"Pearl Harbor Child Comes Home": Ford Island Attack Survivor To Speak at Pacific Aviation Museum Pearl Harbor November 28, 29

She was a child living on Ford Island on December 7, 1941 when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. She remembers watching from her home as the fiery attack raged. And she has written books about it. Now, Dorinda Makanaōnalani Nicholson, author of Pearl Harbor Child, Remember WWII: Kids Who Survived Tell Their Stories, and other books, returns to Ford Island and the Pacific Aviation Museum Pearl Harbor in a lecture series entitled, "Pearl Harbor Child Comes Home." Two appearances will be held at the Museum: Friday, November 28 at 7PM with a book signing at 3pm and after the lecture; and Saturday, November 29 at 2PM with a book signing from 12 noon to 5PM.

For reservations and information, call the Museum at 808/441-1008 by November 24. General admission: $14, adults; $7, children. Kama`aina and Military admission: $10 adults; $5, children. Admission is free to Museum members. More information is available at www.PacificAviationMuseum.org.

The Museum's restaurant, Laniakea Café will be open for dinner before the Friday, November 28th lecture and during the Saturday, November 29th presentation. The Museum Store will be open during both events, also.

Pacific Aviation Museum is located at 319 Lexington Boulevard in Hangar 37 on Ford Island at Pearl Harbor.
